

Designing a Digital Horticultural Toolbox

Grower Participation: We seek to understand and identify solutions to the information challenges faced by Midwestern fruit and vegetable growers as they cultivate their crops. Our work looks to design more useful and usable digital technologies for practitioners of annual fruit and vegetable production.

We're looking for: Owners and operators farms producing cucumbers, melons, peppers, or tomatoes in the Midwest to guide our design.

Sign up to participate here:

https://bit.ly/ddht_recruitment_qualtrics

If you have questions, contact:

Ankita Raturi (ankita@purdue.edu)
Steven Doyle (doyle110@purdue.edu)

For more information please see:

<http://aginformaticslab.org/index.php/2022/12/06/the-ddht-project/>